FIRE, DROUGHT, RAIN, AND HOPE

Three Wild Years in the Diablo Range

The first full-length movie ever created about the mysterious, little-known 200-mile Diablo Range, California's next great conservation story. It's the culmination of three years of groundbreaking work exploring the range. With the help of ranchers, naturalists, scientists, and land managers, Fire, Drought, Rain, and Hope explores life in California's inland Coast Range after the huge fires of 2020.

The last part of the film, "Hope: and Audacious Plans," maps out Save Mount Diablo's strategies for winning broader protection for the entire range in this era of climate change.
